The COVID-19 pandemic magnified and exacerbated pre-existing weaknesses. Behavioral health and mental health challenges have increased to crisis levels. The best way to prepare for the next pandemic is through coordinated bird-dogging: Identify our weaknesses; prioritize our needs; coordinate our strategies; and fortify our systems.

Defining Bird-Dogging

To engage in the relentless pursuit of an objective or goal

Collaboration and Coordination

- Identify Problems
- Prioritize/Sequence Needs
- Strategize
- Resolve

Bird-Dogging

- Avoid getting stuck on identifying problems/sharing anecdotes
- Avoid prioritizing everything; that's like highlighting all of the words
- Avoid assuming that someone else is doing something
- Avoid getting comfortable; remember a pandemic is approaching

South Carolina's Progress

BARRIERS	SOLUTIONS
Suicide continues to rise as a leading cause of death among children and adolescents	Coordinated and engaged response among agencies and organizations with facilitation through the Suicide Prevention Coalition and the Dept. of Mental Health's Office of Suicide Prevention; SCDMH's mobile crisis is active in all 46 states; Telehealth; School-based mental health; Student ID Suicide Prevention bill; Training and awareness for staff and volunteers through DMH/AFSP grant; Plans underway to launch 988 in July of 2022
Agencies and organizations can be silo-ed; Competing interests can stymie progress	To the extent possible, agencies need to coordinate priorities and strategies; Otherwise, one agency's ask contradicts another agency's ask and neither agency moves forward; We have engaged in interagency meetings to identify shared barriers and shared priorities

BARRIERS	SOLUTIONS
Insufficient in-state Psychiatric Residential Treatment Facility Capacity for South Carolina children and adolescents	DHHS has announced a significant increase in the S.C. Medicaid rate for in-state PRTF providers effective April 1, 2022
Lack of sufficient Psychiatric Residential Treatment Facility capacity for seriously mentally ill, justice-involved youth	Discussions among agency leadership to create this capacity have resulted in this issue being in the forefront of state planning; DJJ's budget request for $20 million to design, build and operate a state-operated PRTF for this population
Moratorium on Rehabilitative Behavioral Health Services (RBHS) services coupled with a need for intensive, community based services	DHHS Director Kerr committed to reviewing the moratorium to develop a way to intentionally eliminate the moratorium with quality assurance and monitoring processes in place; Interagency work to increase service capacity including DHHS and DSS's work regarding the Family First Prevention Services Act (FFPSA)

South Carolina's Progress

Gap in placement array for step-down services; Need for High Intensity Residential Placement options for children and adolescents; Lack of sufficient treatment and placement for victims of human trafficking	Discussions among agency leadership to create this capacity have resulted in this issue being in the forefront of state planning; Hopeful planning regarding DSS's work with Qualified Residential Treatment Providers (QRTP); Residential private-provider placement anticipated to open in Aiken
Inability to recruit, train, develop, and maintain sufficient workforce	Agencies have announced plans for this work; Governor's office and General Assembly recognize these challenges, including the need to work with high schools, colleges and universities to create attractive careers for future employees

VISION: We need a robust array of placement and services on our behavioral health “shelves” (not just bread and milk) for the next pandemic, emergency or disaster.

STARTING: Where are you now? Are you still identifying problems?

GOALS: What are the sequenced priorities?

OBJECTIVES: What is your strategy for achieving the goals or resolving the barriers? Who is engaged bird-dogging? Who is engaged in the relentless pursuit of the objective or goal?

Broad Vision for Reform

- Access and awareness of an array of services that allow children to safely remain in their homes and communities or in the least restrictive, most family-like setting based upon their needs
- Coordination of services and efforts for a system of care grounded in urgency, empathy and sustainability
- Continued collaboration with child welfare partners regarding communication, service coordination and planning strategies to improve the timeliness of court hearings and outcomes for children
